David Yates Joins Shen Milson & Wilke's London Office

With broad and varied experience in the multimedia and acoustic design industries, David Yates recently joined Shen Milson & Wilke's London office as an associate.

An experienced system designer, Chris will work closely with both architects and installers on a wide variety of multimedia and acoustic projects. He is experienced with voice/data network, control system, and security system design. He is also knowledgeable about EASE, the de facto standard in sound-system modeling software, and Integrated Noise Model, which evaluates aircraft noise impacts in the vicinity of airports.

Mr. Yates is a graduate of the University of Salford with a degree in acoustics and audio technology.

Shen Milsom & Wilke's London office now has a staff of six multimedia professionals. The office is actively recruiting to fuel further expansion within the next six months.

Sandy Brown Associates and Shen Milsom & Wilke joined forces in 2003 to provide comprehensive services in information technology, multimedia, building security, and acoustics in the UK, Europe and the Middle East. This new partnership enables innovative design solutions while maintaining a keen awareness of cost, and architectural and building constraints.

Shen Milsom & Wilke [www.smwinc.com], an international technology consulting practice founded in 1986, offers comprehensive services in the areas of multimedia, voice/data, building security, and acoustics. The firm has a staff of more than 140 professionals and eleven offices worldwide, including London, where we have formed a partnership with Sandy Brown Associates.

Sandy Brown Associates, opened in 1969 by the late Sandy Brown and David Binns, has offices in London and Edinburgh. The firm's reputation was originally based on Mr. Brown's skillful acoustic design of recording studios for such musicians as Cream, Eric Clapton, and the Rolling
