Shen Milsom & Wilke Opens Office in United Arab Emirates

To serve the needs of architects, engineers, and building owners in the Middle East and to answer the increasing demand for services in this part of the world, Shen Milsom & Wilke opened a new office in Dubai, United Arab Emirates, this winter.

Along with the UAE, the office will service Kuwait, Oman, Lebanon, and Saudi Arabia. Current Shen Milsom & Wilke projects in the area include the Bur Juman Centre Expansion in Dubai and the Abu Dhabi Investment Authority--both Kohn Pedersen Fox Associates in London; the Museum of Islamic Art in Doha, Qatar--I.M. Pei; the Messilah Beach Hotel in Messilah, Kuwait--Skidmore Owings and Merrill; and the American University in Beirut, Lebanon.

Jim Glosser is the manager of Shen Milsom & Wilke's UAE office. With experience in architecture, interior design, audiovisual design, project management, and control room development, Glosser will design and manage advanced audiovisual and high technology projects for a variety of building types.

Glosser was a principal consultant at Shen Milsom & Wilke/Paoletti Associates in San Francisco, the director of consulting services for Barco Visual Systems, and the director of international marketing for Evans Consoles. He has worked on numerous projects throughout Asia, Northern Africa, and the Middle East and spent four years living and working in Saudi Arabia. He resides in Dubai.
